Reflection

Zacchaeus come down!

I can't remember the last time I climbed a tree. It was once child's play, but as an adult it's a bit of a stretch. So, what is Zacchaeus doing out on a limb in Jericho? He's no kid. He is grown up and wealthy and, even though despised as a tax collector, has a certain status. Short in stature isn't the whole story. He could have wormed his way to the front of the crowd. Luke says Zacchaeus wanted to see who Jesus was. Likely, the stirrings of conversion were already in his heart. But being at the roadside, an arm's length from this charismatic prophet, might have been a little too close for comfort. Safer to be up a tree where he could check things out. Safer, that is, until Jesus looked up. Of the many aspects of Zacchaeus's story, the choice to observe at first from a safe distance is especially resonant. Conversion is uncomfortable and hard and never quite finished. I tend to want detachment from the suffering around me and to reject the idea that I might have extorted anything from anyone. Too often I come up short, reluctant to climb down from my comfortable perch. But near or far, curb side or tree, doesn't really matter. Over and again, Jesus looks up and calls me by name.

- Praying together and deepening faith.
- The purpose of adapting liturgy for children is to lead them into full, conscious and active participation in the liturgy of the parish.

Go Green this Halloween

Some ideas to help you have a Green Halloween include making your own costume, buying locally grown pumpkins, and decorating existing containers as 'trick or treat' bags. Try making your own decorations by upcycling cardboard for wall decorations and cut out cats, bats, spiders and ghosts. Try buying locally produced treats with minimal or recycled packaging.

Salve Regina: Salve Regina mater misericordiae, vita, dulcedo, et spes nostra salve. Ad te clamamus, exules filii Euae. Ad te suspiramus, gementes et flentes, in hac lacrimarum valle. Eia ergo, advocate nostra, illos tuos misericordes oculos, ad nos converte. Et Jesum, benedictum fructum ventris tui, nobis post hoc exsilium ostende. O Clemens, o pia, o dulcis virgo Maria.
